

DAIRYING AND SOIL CULTURE
AN APPEAL TO FARMERS.

Fate of Nation Rests Largely on an Increased Food Supply.

President Wilson in his proclamation to the people appeals to farmers to do all in their power to increase the supply of foods. He says:

I take the liberty, therefore, of addressing this word to the farmers of the country and to all who work on the farms. The supreme need of our nation and of the nations with which we are co-operating is an abundance of supplies and especially of foodstuffs. The importance of an adequate food supply, especially for the present year, is superlative. Without abundant food alike for the armies and the peoples now at war the whole great enterprise upon which we have embarked will break down and fail. The world's food reserves are low. Not only during the present emergency, but for some time after peace shall have come, both our own people and a large proportion of the people of Europe must rely upon the harvests in America.

Upon the farmers of this country, therefore, in large measure rests the fate of the war and the fate of the nations. May the nation not count upon them to omit no step that will increase the production of their land or that will bring about the most successful co-operation in the sale and distribution of their products? The time is short. It is of the most important importance that everything possible be done, and done immediately, to make sure of large harvests. I call upon young men and old alike and upon the able-bodied boys of the land to accept and act upon this duty—to turn to hosts to the farms and make certain that no pulch and no labor is lacking in this great matter.

I particularly appeal to the farmers of the south to plant abundant foodstuffs as well as cotton. They can show their patriotism in no better or more convincing way than by resisting the great temptation of the present price of cotton and helping, helping upon a great scale, to feed the nation and the peoples everywhere who are fighting for their liberties and for our own. The variety of their crops will be the visible measure of their comprehension of their national duty.

The governments of the United States and the governments of the several states stand ready to co-operate. They will do everything possible to assist farmers in securing an adequate supply of seed, an adequate force of laborers when they are most needed, at harvest time, and the means of expediting shipments of fertilizers and farm machinery as well as of the crops themselves when harvested. The course of trade shall be as unimpeded as it is possible to make it, and there shall be no unwarranted manipulation of the nation's food supply by those who handle it on its way to the consumer. This is our opportunity to demonstrate the efficiency of a great democracy, and we shall not fail short of it.

FOR BETTER DAIRY Sires.

Bankers Aid Wisconsin Farmers to Secure Pure Blood Bulls.

In some sections the problem of securing good sires is a serious one, says a Wisconsin farm bulletin. Often bull clubs are formed by the farmers themselves, who combine their purchasing power to get the services of good sires co-operatively. In other communities bankers, merchants and treasury owners furnish funds on loan time notes, making very satisfactory arrangements for their payment at the end of a two year period. A system of leasing sires, whereby a part of the money received from each farmer for service fees is used to pay the cost of bulls, is in use in several Wisconsin communities.

The plans described here have all been worked out. They are practical. There are undoubtedly many other successful ones. If your community could be benefited by a similar plan start it yourself. Don't wait for the business men to make the first step. Live stock raising is the biggest business in Wisconsin. Many country bankers realize this, and they will meet you half way for they see the importance of profit producing farm animals in the proper development of their communities.

Here are a few suggestions about buying:

First—In buying a bull, get as good a one as you can afford. The sire, if a good pure bred, is more than half the herd.

Second—If possible buy from a breeder whom you know.

Third—Be sure you get stock from disease free herds.

Fourth—Do not expect to buy good cows cheap. The poorest cows are those that are for sale in most herds.

Fifth—The best investment is to get heifers which have not freshened, but which have been bred to a registered sire of the same breed.

Sixth—Buy as near home as possible. Not save expenses, and if animals are not satisfactory your chances for redress are much better.

Times of Planting Corn.

May 4 to 14 has been the most profitable date during eleven years for planting corn at the Ohio experiment station at Wooster. "It has been greater from corn planted in this period than from plantings made either earlier or later. The ears of the late planted corn have generally been about the same size as those of the early planted corn."

Baked Ham With Tart or Spice Sauce—A ham, dash of pepper and cloves, three tablespoonfuls of flour, a quarter cupful of brown sugar, two cupfuls of water, two tablespoonfuls of vinegar, a few whole spices. The ham should be boiled the day before. Wash in warm water, then put on to boil in cold water enough to cover. Boil slowly thirty to forty-five minutes, leave in stock twenty-four hours. Remove the skin and dust with pepper and place cloves in the fat part. Cover with two tablespoonfuls of flour and brown sugar, add water, put in hot oven and bake forty-five minutes or until nice and brown, basting two or three times. Remove ham to hot platter and to the gravy add two tablespoonfuls of vinegar, the whole spices and enough water to make two cupfuls. Add a tablespoonful of flour thickening and boil three minutes, then strain. Bacon and Split Peas—Put the peas to soak the day before required. Wash them well and remove any that are discolored. Tie the peas loosely in a muslin bag, then boil until quite soft. While the peas are cooking trim off the rind of some fat bacon, and just before the peas are ready fry the bacon, place on a dish and keep hot. Rub the peas through a strainer, add the seasoning and some of the bacon fat. The bacon and peas should be served in separate dishes.

ANCHOVY APPETIZERS.

ANCHOVY BONNE BOUCHES.—Prepare slices of very thin, crisp toast, stamp them out with a round cutter about one and one-half inches in diameter; butter them and place a layer of thin slices of roast chicken and alternately very finely shredded lettuce leaves over each. Ornament the tops with fillets of anchovies in the form of lattice work. Wash up on a folded napkin garnish with parsley and serve. Anchovy Sauce Tartare—To one half cupful of mayonnaise sauce add a teaspoonful each of anchovy sauce, chopped shallot, parsley, chervil and tarragon. Cut thin slices from a large dinner roll, butter these and place on each a slice of hard cooked egg, two anchovies, boned and split; cover with the above sauce and serve garnished with watercress.

ANCHOVIES A la Russe.—Fry little rounds of bread in hot butter till a pale brown, put four tablespoonfuls of butter in a saucepan and when melted break in one whole egg and two yolks of eggs; beat well together until it begins to thicken over the fire; chop three gloves with six anchovies, a little gherkin and two pickled walnuts or truffles, mix them with the eggs, stir well together; pile on the bread, which should be spread with a little anchovy paste, and serve very hot on no plates.

ANCHOVY PUFFS.—Roll out scraps of pastry thinly. Wipe and bone six anchovies. Cut the pastry into pieces the length and double the width of the anchovies; place an anchovy on a piece of pastry, wet the edges and fold over, pressing the edges well together. Place the puff on a greased baking tin, brush them over with beaten egg and sprinkle with grated cheese and a dust of red pepper. Bake in a hot oven for ten minutes. Serve them immediately. Sardines may be used instead of anchovies.

ANCHOVY STRAWS.—Rub or cut in three tablespoonfuls of butter into one and one-fourth cupfuls of flour, beat up the yolk of an egg with two tablespoonfuls of cold water, add this to the flour and mix it into a stiff paste. Roll it off on a floured baking board to one-eighth inch in thickness. Spread it over with a thin layer of anchovy paste and a dust of red pepper or paprika. Cut the pastry into thin strips about two inches long and lay them on a tin, bake them a pale brown in a moderate oven. Serve them either hot or cold. For these the tin need not be greased.

ORCHARD
GLEANINGS

PROTECT YOUNG TREES

Mice and rabbits like tree bark as well as children like candy, and it requires watchfulness to save young trees from being girdled by these little pests.

The rodents are kept away by wrapping trees with wire netting, or even tarred building paper; but paper is not so sure protection from mice. A six-inch mound of earth well tamped around the base of the tree will help to turn away mice, and if the snow also is tramped down around the trees the mice will not be so likely to get at them, because they work under the surface as a rule.

PRUNE AND SPRAY ORCHARDS

Get the Fruit Trees About Most Unprofitable Thing on Farm—Test at Missouri College.

Does orchard pruning and spraying pay? The answer is found in the results of comparative experiments conducted by the Missouri College of Agriculture. These experiments, covering a period of three years, show first, that a well managed orchard is one of the most profitable things on the farm; second, that the best managed orchards are profitable; and third, that pruning and spraying are profitable. The results of the experiments show that a well managed orchard is one of the most profitable things on the farm. The results of the experiments show that the best managed orchards are profitable. The results of the experiments show that pruning and spraying are profitable.

HOW TO KILL COCKLE

Effective Method of Eradication is to Scrape Larvae From Branches During Winter.

All fruit growers that have watched the cockle moth at all know that in the early part of the season, when the fruit is small, the wormy apple, or larva of the cockle moth, is a very common pest. The wormy apple, which is a very common pest, is a very common pest. The wormy apple, which is a very common pest, is a very common pest.

Codling Moth—a Wormy Apple; b, Entrance at Calyx; c, Pupae; d, Worm; e, Moth; f, Head of Worm.

Each female lays on the average from 40 to 50 eggs, so if only a few of these chrysalises or hibernating larvae are destroyed the number of eggs to be deposited will be greatly reduced. A large per cent of the wintering larvae can be destroyed by scraping all round bark from the trees, especially in and about the crotches of the trees. If the scraping is done during the winter the larvae are killed in the process while they are destroyed by the exposure and the birds.

The sooner fruit growers come to realize that this method of fighting this pest is almost as important as thorough spraying, the sooner they will begin to grow a larger per cent of worm-free fruit.

TO RESTRAIN APPLE CANKER

Most Important Orchard Enemy Still Is Widespread Enemy—Continuous Attention Needed.

Correspondence with apple growers and inspection of orchards by the University of Nebraska indicate that this pest is still a widespread and most important apple enemy. Apple scab and blotch are readily controlled by proper spraying. Canker, however, requires continuous attention if it is to be held in control.

Growners of infected orchards should write to the experiment stations of their states for further information as to the best methods of control.

CHICKEN CHATTER.

Not enough animal food, lack of exercise and too much confinement are all causes of leg weakness with the early hatched chicks.

Use care in making a sitting hen's nest. Put in some dirt first, then plenty of soft hay or oat straw.

When hatching watch closely that the chicks do not get away from the hen and chill.

Chicks must have all the water they want from the start of feeding.

For the first two weeks feed chicks hard boiled eggs, cut up fine; coarse cornmeal, grit and a good quality of chick food.

BROODER IMPORTANT.

Where Large Numbers of Chicks Are Raised It Is Indispensable.

That the importance of the brooder in rearing large numbers of incubator chicks cannot be overestimated is the opinion of N. L. Harris, superintendent of the Kansas State Agricultural college poultry farm.

Some artificial means of brooding chicks must be provided when incubator chicks hatch in cool or cold weather. Where a small flock of birds is to be raised it is not profitable to use either the incubator or brooder, but where large numbers of chickens are handled the brooder becomes a matter of convenience.

Keeping chicks in large flocks minimizes the labor and reduces the cost of houses and yards. Where hens are used for brooders in cold weather only a few chicks can be given to each hen. This requires a large number of coops, and the attendant is compelled to give each group nearly as much attention as would be required for one large flock cared for by the brooder.

A large percentage of the hen brooded chicks suffer from the effects of head lice. These not only are bothersome to the newly hatched chick, but continue to be a source of trouble through the entire season.

Where hens are not available and only a few chicks are to be raised it is possible to construct a homemade brooder. These usually require considerably more attention than those on the market, but will give fairly good results.

The chicken coop and screened run shown herewith provide safety for the hen and chicks from predatory foes. The wire screen is an effective barrier against hawks, cats, rats and other foes of chicks.

The most common method of heating these homemade brooders is by means of a jug of hot water. A box which contains sufficient room for from 40 to 100 chicks and which is tight on all sides excepting the front is the first requirement. Some method of ventilation should be provided on the top of the box. A two gallon jug of hot water furnishes the heating plant. The jug should be wrapped in burlap to protect the chicks and aid in retaining the heat. This brooder will keep a limited number of chicks perfectly comfortable.

There are nearly as many kinds of brooders on the market as there are incubator factories in the country. Many of these brooders are so cheaply constructed as to be in constant danger of fire. Many small brooders are on the market, however, which are practically fireproof and which have a capacity of from 50 to 100 chicks.

Care of Chicks.

Provide the chicks with clean fresh water until they are a month of age.

After the first few days feed daily cut onions, green alfalfa, sprouted oats or some other suitable green feed unless chicks can get such material on range.

Feed charcoal, grit and bonemeal separately in a suitable feed hopper.

Plenty of exercise on range and plenty of green feed and bonemeal will prevent leg weakness.

Too picking or cannibalism can be prevented by providing plenty of animal food, green feed, exercise and by putting a little salt in the mash, not over one-half of 1 per cent.

Skin milk or buttermilk given the chicks to drink in a sanitary drinking vessel is excellent for promoting uniform and rapid growth and is one of the best preventives of bowel trouble.

Spade Up the Run.

If you are keeping your chicks confined in small runs be sure to either move them frequently or spade the ground, making some shallow furrows with the turned over soil. This will prevent the soil from becoming foul.

GET the coal to the ships and the ships to France—we can hold out here!

WE Americans learn from the mistakes of others to avoid them—and make our own mistakes.

AS for the great American habit of keeping the house at a temperature of 90 degrees, something has happened to it.

EVIDENTLY this country greatly needs more rail lines, more boat lines and more highways capable of bearing motor traffic.

PROBABLY the weather got tired of being ignored while people talked about the war and decided to force itself into the conversation.

NEW YORK, Boston and other eastern centers of enlightenment seem to be as badly snarled up with freight congestion as benighted Vladivostok itself.

WE shall have to hand it to Germany for knowing enough to co-ordinate its railroads and its waterways long ago and make them all immensely useful to the nation.

If the country had got together a generation or two ago on transportation we should have saved all this shocking freight congestion. The railroad interests, for example, were asinine in fighting the waterways.

Nobody knows how far toward ideal democracy we shall go before we are through with this war. If we can keep our mouths shut for a while we can claim, when we arrive, that we had been steering for that destination all the time.

No Snobbery on Battle Line.

Here is a bit of advice from a Canadian soldier of Ypres to a certain soldier and to a certain officer of the army of the United States. To the latter he writes: "Don't refuse to associate again with an enlisted man whom you meet off the drill ground and away from camp. You may need him some day to carry you off the field in flanders. And if he likes you and your kind, it'll make a heap of difference."

And to the enlisted man this soldier of Ypres has also his bit of advice:

"Don't mind a young officer who is snobbish. He's a rookie in his way, like you are in yours, and he wouldn't do it. His snobbish will all be shot away in the first fight. It has to be or he'll go down. Remember, 80 percent of all the big officers in France were privates once in this war."—New York Evening Mail.

Income Tax Officer in Muhlenberg

February 4 to 16.

In a communication received by this paper, Collector of Internal Revenue, Josh T. Griffith of Owensboro, Kentucky, announces that a Federal Income Tax officer will be sent into this county on Feb. 4, 1918 and will be here until Feb. 16, 1918. He will have his office in Court House in Central City, Ky., Feb. 4 to 11 and in Greenville from Feb. 11 to 16, will be there every day ready and willing to help persons subject to the Income Tax, make out their returns without any costs to them for his services.

The Collector of Internal Revenue estimates there will be 800 taxpayers in this County.

Returns of Income for the year 1917, must be made on forms provided for the purpose before March 1, 1918. Because a good many people don't understand the law and won't know how to make out their returns, the Government is sending in this Expert to do it for them. But the duty is on the taxpayer to make himself known to the Government. If he doesn't make return as required before March 1, 1918, he may have to pay a penalty ranging from $20 to $1000, pay a fine or go to jail. So if you do not want to take chances on going to jail, you better call on the Income Tax man. If you are not sure about being subject to the tax, better ask him and make sure. Whether you see the Income tax man or not, you must make return if subject to the tax.

Of course, persons resident in other Counties may, if they want to come and see the Income Tax man who will be at Greenville and Central City.

The Collector suggests that every body start to figuring up now his Income Tax and expenses so as to be ready with the figures when the Expert arrives. Expenses, however, don't mean family expenses, money used to pay off the principal of a debt, new machinery, buildings, or any thing like that. They mean what you spend in making your money—interest, taxes paid, hired help, amount paid for goods sold, seed, stock bought for feeding, rent (except for your own dwelling), etc. Income includes about every dollar you get.

He Economizes.

Before the war I used to buy all kinds of foolish traps; I blew myself for whiskers dye, sombreros, spurs and chaps. Whenever I went toddling home, I packed a lot of junk, a setting hen, a fine-tooth comb, a Saratoga trunk. I bought whatever things appeared attractive to my gaze, including tassels for my beard, a pair of calves to raise. But since the war I have behaved like one whose sense is keen, and countless nickels I have saved—which go for gasoline. I'm saving here, I'm saving there, I simply can't be beat; I'm saving on the things I wear, and on the things I eat. My garments used to make a noise like money thrown away, but now I'm wearing corduroys of brindled brown and gray. Cigars of high imported grade alone for me had charms, but now I'm smoking stogies made on Kansas cabbage farms. And thus the coin I'm saving down, by working helpful wires; when I've a bunch I go to town and buy some rubber tires. We've lived in luxury so long, it's hard to break away; but if your grit is good and strong, you'll find the road, I say. Quit buying busts of Charles E. Hughes, to idly fill a shelf; quit hiring men to shine your shoes, and do the job yourself. Quit spending coin for useless trash, tie hats and teddy bears; then you will always have the cash for motor car repairs. WALT MASON

There is now a strong demand for religious music, and you are invited to hear "I Need Thee Every Hour," Sung by McDonough and Bielting on the Victrola at Roark's. The author Mrs. Annie Lowry Hawks, aged 83, died the first of the year at her home in Bennington, Vt.

People are now paying 18 cents a bushel for coal, but if they need it, they are mighty glad to be able to get it, for it has reached 21 cents this winter.

Bought for one, enjoyed by all—that's the Victrola.

Sodium Nitrate.

In view of the fact that the Government has bought nitrate and proposes to distribute it at cost to the American farmer the question naturally arises as to what this nitrate should be used for and how much.

Nitrate in this County should be used for the following things and should not be used for our ordinary crops unless it be used to make a complete fertilizer or one containing Ammonia and Phosphate which might well be used on tobacco or other crops which bring in an equivalent amount to the acre of cash. It might be used for truck growing, on tobacco beds and in view of the present wheat shortage to help the backward growth in the spring. If you have need for nitrate for these purposes you should see the County Agent, Cohen Bros., Wallace Hardware Company or The Bremen Mercantile Co., to let them give you an application blank which must be filled out before February 4.

This Nitrate will cost $75.50 at Baltimore, Md. and the farmer must pay the freight and Tag Fee. It contains the equivalent of 18 per cent ammonia. Granting that it costs $90 per ton delivered (which it will hardly do) it will cost $4.50 per hundred or 25 cents per unit of ammonia. You will also notice that it is just 9 times as strong or contains 9 times as much plant food as a 2 per cent fertilizer. Hence when it is used you need only to use 1-9 as much to get the same results. For further information see the County Agent.

If there ever was a time when it was important for the farmer of Muhlenberg County to act it is now. Hogs may be bred with good success up to the 1st of February and it behooves every farmer who desires to help in this giant struggle to do his part now by breeding every available gilt or sow.

The Government is doing everything in its power to reduce the losses of our boys upon the battlefield and to see that they are properly fed and clothed. The Government however is made up of the individual men who compose it and unless they are willing to make sacrifices and co-operate with the soldiers in the field the war must terminate disastrously and the United States of America which thru one of her Statesmen declared, "Millions for Defense but Not One Cent for Tribute" will be forced to pay tribute to the greatest military power that the world has ever known.

However in this struggle they have not asked the farmer to raise hogs without a guarantee of a just and sufficient price. It has said that they will do everything within the hands of the Food Administration to see that the price is 13 times the price for a bushel of corn during the feeding period which is indeed liberal as will be recognized by all hog men. Thus we see that care and attention will enable the farmer not only to render patriotic service but also to make money while he is doing it. In the face of these things every farmer of this County will surely now breed all the hogs that he possibly can.

Regulations Of Stores On Fuel Days.

On account of the misunderstanding and short notice, a special order was given for grocers and meat markets to remain open all day, last Monday, for the exclusive sale of food and feedstuffs. But for the following nine Mondays the order as issued will rule, and such establishments will close at 12 o'clock noon. Drug stores will remain open all day for sale of drugs, medicines and surgical supplies, only, and will likely be a day or so with friends.

Lieut. Thomas Taylor arrived from Camp Dix, New Jersey, Tuesday afternoon, and will be here a few days.

When Wars Have Ceased.

When wars have ceased, when armaments withdraw
To flaming furnace to be melted there:
When martial lines dissolve by word of Law
And flaunting flags are gathered from the air,
Oh, then will Memory with subtle power
Review the scenes as vivid pictures flit
Across the mind; and oh, that happy hour—
If I had borne my tragic part of it!

When wars have ceased, when homeward they have come
Who gloried in their chance to serve with zest;
When no bowed heads bespeak the muffled drum,
Nor bugler's trumpet at their chief's behest;
Oh, then the Past will mirror all the strife
Within my heart, as pondering I sit;
And with what triumph will I face new life—
If I have borne my honored part of it!

Next Monday is county court day, but it is not likely the town will be overrun with visitors.

The Victrola, with many exclusive features, is supreme. A demonstration convinces. Roark will be glad to meet any test.

The rule of Boreas in this country has been in a degree as bad as the reign of Mars in Europe.

Worm gear, with ball-bearing points, the Victrola motor surpasses the bevel-gear motors in other machines to same degree it does in every other feature.

It almost shocks one, lately, to get up and find the thermometer registering anything above ten below.

The tag day next Wednesday is the most important we have had in this country, and should be universally observed and followed out.

There are over 300 talking machines on the market, but the Victrola is first—in thought, sales, service, satisfaction. See and hear why at Roarks.

Next Wednesday, January 30, is National Tag Day, when shovel handles all over the land will be tagged "Save that shovelful of coal a day for Uncle Sam."

The only complete selection of talking machine records in this territory can be found at Roark's. Popular, standard, sacred, patriotic, classical numbers in endless variety, chosen from study of many years, and offered with confidence.

Burn Wood and Save Other Fuel.

The U. S. Fuel Administration is making an urgent plea to land owners to burn wood, and also to supply this material to people in small towns and villages, to as great an extent as possible, so that other fuel may be saved for people who cannot get wood. There is a vast store of waste wood throughout this country making farms unsightly and adding to the fire risk, and it should be utilized in a way so badly needed. Some farmers have started this work and it is hoped that many of them will do so.

Appearance, construction, tone, quality, cost—the Lyon & Healy pianos excel. Roark's factory representative for Muhlenberg, and invites investigation and comparison.

Give your coal shovel a little more rest, and provide fuel for people who are in dire distress.

See the income tax officer at Central City Feb. 4 to 16, and from 11 to 16 here. There are about 800 people in this county who will be subject to this tax.

There is a great demand for religious, patriotic and old-time songs and Roark has the fullest selections to be found in this part of Kentucky.

The boss may not have been patriotic enough to be glad, but all the clerks are delighted over the ten-Monday vacations.

A world of music for an atom of price is what every possessor of a Victrola gets. Suitable, appealing, substantial gifts for weddings, anniversaries, holidays can be had at Roark's.

There are slackers in the observance of the fuel order, just as there have been, and ever will be people who do not wish to comply with the law. But all will be lined up before the ten-week period closes.

They're going out in bunches, but we have them coming in stacks, so you, too, can get a Victrola from Roark, and join the happy band of considerable more than 200 users in Muhlenberg.

It has been many years since we had such a stretch of snow covering as we have had this winter, as it has already been almost eight weeks since we have had a continuous blanket of the (one time) beautiful.

A home without music is lacking in brightness, cheer and comforts. Whatever your needs, let Roark help you. Most complete line of instruments in this section, and qualities highest.

People who do not understand the new fuel saving order should err on the side of patriotism—and safety, and realize that our little business is naught, compared to that of the world, which is now involved in its greatest struggle.

This is an immense country, and therefore a big proposition to keep all parts supplied with necessities, even, but by all of us getting together to help each other. We shall be able to make it.

War, snow, way below zero weather or any other conditions do not stop the world-wide demand for Victrolas and records, as people realize that just now, more than ever before in history, one needs the comfort and support brought in to their homes and lives by these items.

A man here asked one of his lawyer friends: "What is the penalty for not obeying the fuel-saving order?" "Well, that matter would have to be determined by a Federal Judge, as the maximum is a $5,000 fine and two years in prison," was the significant and convincing response.

If you do not have music in your home, you have no foundation on which so many other vital things must rest. Get ALL music, as well as the best in literature, on the Victrola. Roark county distributor, has placed more than 200 instruments in the county, and his easy terms will enable anyone to own a machine.

Monday is heatless, Tuesday is weatherless and Wednesday is wheel-less; hope we don't get an endless day, but a speechless one would be a great boon to suffering humanity.

Kentucky On Honor Roll.

Kentuckians have the respect of people everywhere, and another reason for this honor was made last week when Fuel Administrator Garfield received his first telegram which came to his office from the Board of Trade in Louisville, pledging the united support of the manufacturers in the five-day shutdown, and in any other way necessary. The telegram was read in Congress and made a part of the permanent record of that body, and the reading was followed by enthusiastic cheers of the members. There is nothing little or tardy about the loyalty of Kentuckians.

The tones on a Victrola spring and mingle as on no other instrument. The light weight on the needle does away with the gritty, grabby, scratchy noise so manifest on all other machines, and insures the supreme delights of music, song and story. See and hear at Roark's.

Muhlenberg merchants, factory owners and individuals responded cheerfully to the fuel saving order, and have observed the five day shutdown and the one-day rest. The merchants, except druggist and grocers, have nine days more to come, on Mondays up to and including March 25, when it is hoped sufficient will have been accomplished to permit the regular schedule, and everybody then have sufficient coal.

Any other talking machine may be had plenty, at any season, but Victrolas, made in many times greater quantities than any of them, has never reached the point where all demands are met, and at this season the shortage is very sharp, all over the world. "There is a reason," which Roark can demonstrate to the delight of anyone.

For a new rule, with only a day or so notice, nothing could have worked better than our first heatless Monday. It will be easier from now on to March 25, as people understand fully just what they can do, if they are to be permitted to stay open at all.

Right in your home you can have the greatest concert in the world, for on your Victrola you can command greatest artists, from Abbott to Zimbalist, to sing, play or speak for you. Call at Roark's and arrange for one of these instruments.

Not many concerns can afford to operate on prohibited Mondays, when the penalty is a fine of $5,000 and two years in a federal prison.

Beware of many talking machines that are represented as Victrolas. Look for the Victor dog. Roark is the exclusive distributor of the Victrola in Muhlenberg, and invites your visits.

Most of the public rural schools will close tomorrow, but many of them will have some time lost by bad weather to make up, and so closing time will be somewhat separated, this year.

The largest industries of the country patriotically shut down for five days; it is only the little fellow who complains about the one-day-a-week-for-ten that questions and grumbles.

You are thankful today because you have a Victrola in your home. If you haven't, you'll be thankful every day following the one on which you do secure the varied pleasures and benefits of one of these superb instruments. See Roark about it.

There is one bright ray of hope through all our gloom of bad weather: According to the prophet who has hit our weather right along, we only have five more snows coming to us. As we have had to take what he predicted, we are still for him, and hope he is right.

Call at Roark's now, and see the finest display of Victrolas to be found in this section. From lowest to highest models are on display and ready to play for you.

Not of "Age," But a Giant.

The Victor Talking Machine Co. is entering its twentieth year, being established in 1898, and has in that period so far surpassed the several concerns already in the field, and the hundreds (more than 300 to be definite) since entering, that now almost half the business of the world is being done by the Victor Co. There are, necessarily, many vital reasons for this wonderful recognition and adoption, and Roark can explain and demonstrate to the complete satisfaction of anyone, and will gladly do so, whether you ever expect to buy or not.

Victor records in abundance at Roark's.

GREATER than the Metropolitan Opera House; greater than Covent Garden, where the royalty of England is entertained; greater than La Scala at Milan, the Grand Opera House of Paris, and the Royal Opera of Berlin; greater in fact than all the opera houses and places of entertainment in the world, is the seventh floor of Building No. 5—the centre of a city in itself formed by the modern structures of steel and concrete that house the giant industry of the Victor and Victor-Victrola.

To this building in the city of Camden, just across the historic Delaware River from the city of Philadelphia, comes a never-ending procession of the very greatest artists in the whole world. Today it may be Caruso or Amato, and tomorrow it may be Melba, or Tetrazzini, or Schumann-Heink, or Farrar; or it may be several of them assembling to unite in making a masterpiece like the "Sextette from Lucia." Or it may be Paderewski, or Kubelik, or Elman, or Harry Lauder, or Blanche Ring; and then again it might be Sousa and his band, or Victor Herbert and his orchestra.

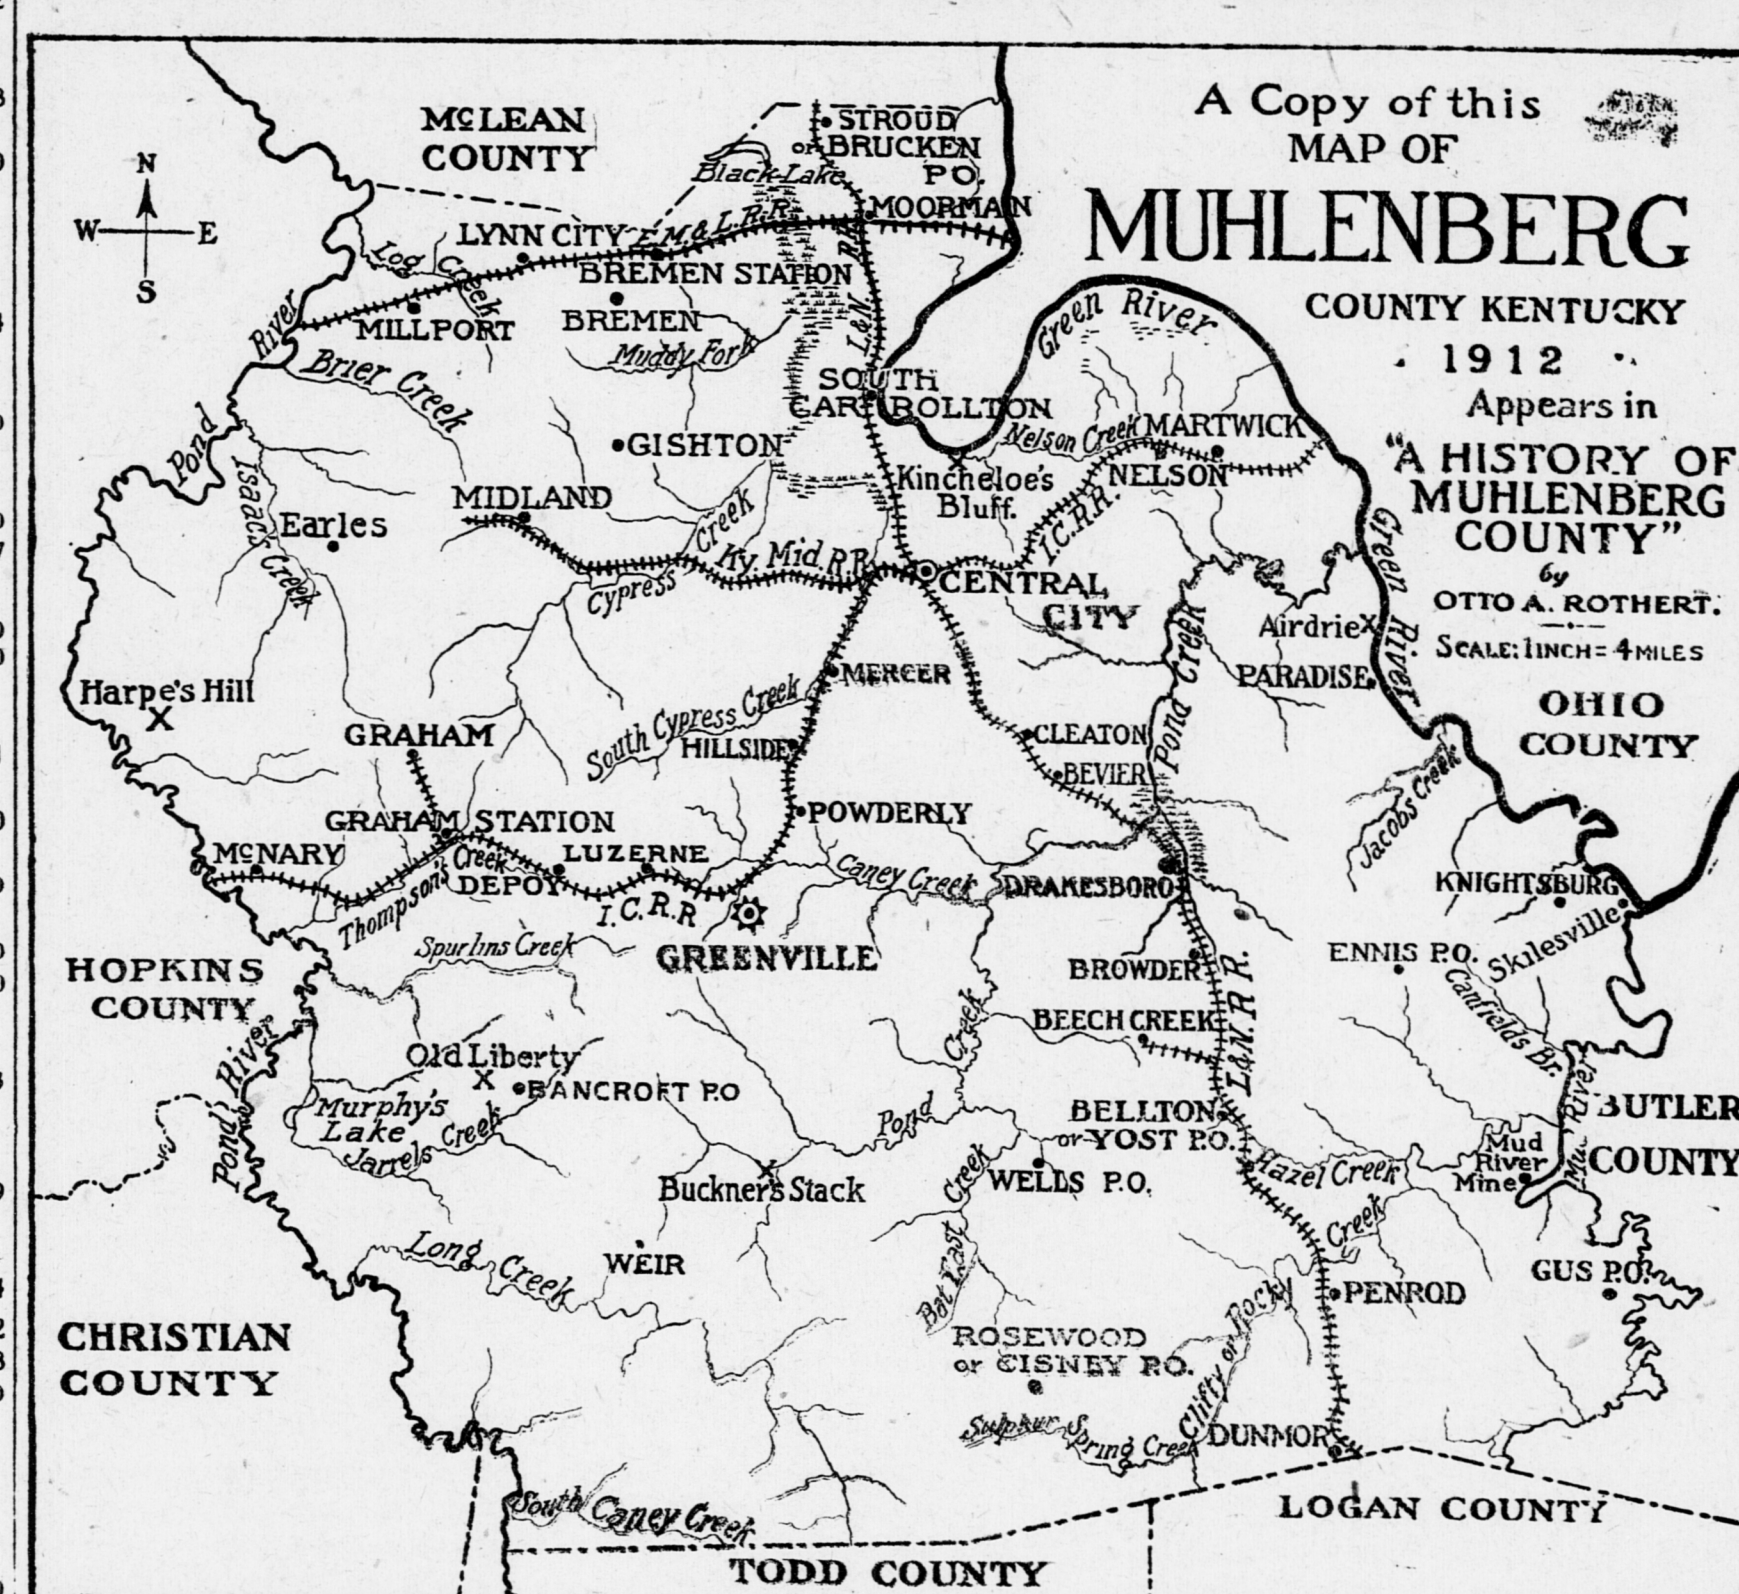

But whoever it is or whatever the organization, rest assured that within the four walls of this building is heard, day in and day out, year in and year out, music in all its forms such as no other place on earth has ever heard.

And unlike music that is heard in any other place, which is only a momentary pleasure ending with its rendition, Victor music lives forever. From its beginning in Building No. 5, it goes through the various processes necessary to its perpetuation and eventually leaves the shipping department (Buildings Nos. 9 and 10) to be heard again and again in hundreds of thousands of homes, just as it is heard in the sacred precincts of the recording room on the seventh floor of Building No. 5.

You can hear some of this exquisite music today. Come in and we'll gladly play your favorite selections, Victors $10 to $100. Victor-Victrolas $15 to $300. Terms to suit your convenience.

FARM POULTRY

LAYING QUALITIES OF HENS

American Breeds, Most Desirable for Producing Winter Eggs, Should Be Hatched in April.

Experience has taught that the laying qualities of any breed of fowls can be much improved by always breeding from the best layers as well as can the milking qualities of cows be brought to high standard by always breeding from the best milkers. In selecting your flock for winter laying get a good breed-to-day strain of which ever breed you choose to keep. Fowls of the American breeds, which are perhaps the most desirable for producing winter eggs, should be hatched in April. They then will have ample time to mature before winter sets in. If possible the pullets should have free range during the summer to enable them to grow strong and hardy frames. The parent stock must, of course, be healthy and it is better if they have a reputation as winter layers. Select the earlier hatched pullets and one-year-old hens that molt early in the season so their new feathers will get ripened up by November. This is the foundation of your winter egg production.

RAISING PIGEONS FOR PROFIT

Unless Houses Are Comfortably Warm It Is Not Wise to Grow Squabs in Cold Weather.

It is not best to attempt to grow squabs during the colder months unless your houses are warm enough to prevent the freezing of the eggs, or the young after being hatched.

When the young are hatched during the cold months they are very likely to become chilled when the parent bird leaves them for food. Once they are chilled through, they are quite likely not to seek a food supply, and, chilled through, they are a lost product which cannot be regained or replaced.

"I wouldn't raise pigeons, they're too dirty," is the complaint often made against these beautiful birds; while, as a matter of fact, it is far less work to keep a pigeon loft and fly free from ill-smelling odors than a poultry house. Step into a pigeon loft where litter has been allowed to accumulate two or three weeks and you will notice merely a slight ammonia odor; but allow the same condition in your poultry house and—well, you'll fully realize that it is time to clean up.

The color of the feathers of a pigeon has little to do with its utility value; but the color of its skin is of much importance, as the dark-skinned squabs are sold at a very low figure. It pays to watch one's flock very carefully and cull out all pairs producing such birds.

LOOK FOR RUNNING NOSES

Colds Usually Caused by Poor Ventilation, Overcrowding and Drafts—Good Cure Given.

Do your chickens have running noses? Look at the flock as they eat and note whether the nostrils are clogged with dirt or show a slimy ooze. If they do, and if the under side of the wing is soiled, you may know that the birds have taken a slight cold, and conditions need changing.

Sometimes these colds come from poor ventilation; sometimes from overcrowding and piling up; sometimes from drafts. Whatever is the cause, these running noses must be cleaned up and the cause removed, or there will be constant trouble with roup and rainy colds.

Get a dime's worth of permanganate of potash crystals and dissolve in a pint of boiled water for a stock solution, using enough each day to color all the drinking water, a rose tint.

MORE HONEY DISHES.

Here are a few more ways of using honey in various dishes:

Honey Jumbles.—Take two cups of honey, one cup of butter, four beaten eggs, one cup of buttermilk, a quart of flour, and a teaspoonful of soda.

If it seems too thin, stir in more flour. Eggs, butter and honey should be thoroughly mixed before adding the flour.

Coffee Cake.—Cream a cupful of butter; add one and a half cups of sugar, two beaten eggs, a cupful of cold coffee, a half cupful of honey and a teaspoonful of soda.

Cambridge Gingerbread.—Melt half a cupful of butter, in a half cupful of boiling water; add a cupful of honey, one beaten egg, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, a half teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, a half teaspoonful of cloves and a teaspoonful of ginger and three cups of flour. Bake 40 minutes in a moderate oven.

Cracker Jack.—One cupful of honey with a cupful of brown sugar is boiled together until it hardens when dropped into water. Remove from the heat and stir in a half teaspoonful of soda. Add pulled rice or popcorn all that can be stirred into it.

Soft Honey Cake.—Take a cupful of butter, two cups of honey, two eggs, one cupful of sour milk, a teaspoonful and a half of soda, a teaspoonful each of cinnamon and ginger and four cups of flour. Mix and beat well and bake in a sheet.

Honey strained and mixed with chopped fruit and whipped cream makes a delicious fruit dessert.

A few dishes which may be easily served are poached eggs in creamed asparagus, preceded by a fruit cocktail, brown bread sandwiches, radishes, orange and pineapple salad, cheese straws, coffee or hot chocolate.

They who have sunny dispositions always on the sunny side of every street.

CHAFING DISH SUPPERS.

A chafing dish is generally used for informal occasions, and nothing is more conducive to the general pleasure than something for several to do to assist in the preparation of the meal.

For the server at the chafing dish table the chair should be high, so that all the stirring and seasoning may be done with ease. The chafing dish should set upon a metal tray, the lamp carefully filled, all utensils needed near at hand.

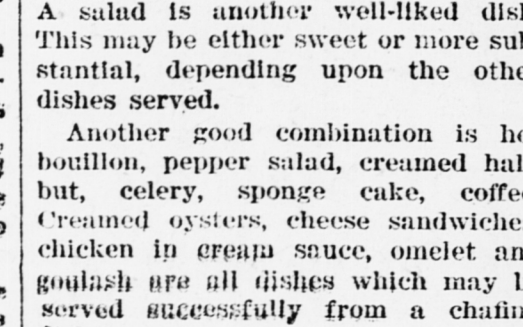

Pure alcohol should be used in the lamp, as an inferior one gives and spoils the lamp. One of the essentials in all work, especially in table preparation, is noiseless work, so the wooden spoons are better to use than metal ones. The carved silver affairs may be used for serving.

With the spoons as utensils for preparations should be small receptacles of salt, pepper, celery salt and paprika. If onion is used it should be finely minced and placed in a small, attractive dish. All ingredients should be prepared beforehand, and placed in pretty receptacles within easy reach.

A wheel tray is a most convenient assistant, saving many steps, the soiled dishes may be quickly gathered and removed and all the supplies kept on it if wished. Dainty finger pulls or sandwiches are the usual accompaniment to any dishes served from the chafing dish, these are prepared beforehand.

A salad is another well-liked dish. This may be either sweet or more substantial, depending upon the other dishes served.

Another good combination is hot bouillon, pepper salad, creamed halibut, celery, sponge cake, coffee, creamed oysters, cheese sandwiches, chicken in cream sauce, omelet and goulash are all dishes which may be served successfully from a chafing dish.

FARM ANIMALS

CHANGE TYPE OF LIVE STOCK

Except in Improvement of Dairy Herd It Is Tedious Process—Strive for Uniformity.

If one wishes to change the type of his live stock he will find various roads open to him and he may be confused as to which to take. First, and most common, is a sire of the desired type may be bought for the herd and year after year improvements may go on in this manner. But it is at best a tedious process and, except in the improvement of the dairy herd, it had better be avoided. Life at best is not long enough to observe very marked results by this method.

A much better method in the case of beef cattle, sheep and swine, if many are kept, is to provide a few females of the desired type and also a male for them, the progeny of which shall be kept while the old type are gradually disposed of. It is surprising how quickly the type of the herd will be changed.

Then again it is possible to sell off the entire lot of cattle or other live stock on the farm and to procure those of the desired type at one time. This is the ideal method if it is financially practicable.

The one great thing to be desired in a herd is uniform excellence and the easiest and least expensive method of bringing this about is the one to be adopted.

RATION FOR GROWING COLTS

Two Parts Oats and One Part Bran Makes Suitable Feed—Add Little Corn in Winter.

Two parts of oats (preferably crushed) and one part of bran make a very suitable feed for growing colts. In cold weather a little corn may be added not to exceed 25 per cent of the ration. If clover or alfalfa is used as half of the roughage ration, no oil meal will be needed, but if the roughage consists of wild hay or corn stover, about 8 per cent of oil meal should be added to the grain ration. Where oats is high in price and barley is plentiful, a ration of crushed barley 60 per cent, bran 30 per cent, and oil meal 10 per cent should give good results.

There is a little danger of overfeeding a colt if it is properly exercised. A colt should receive at least one pound daily for each 100 pounds of live weight, and if out in the cold a little more may be used to advantage.

Growth can be made more rapidly and cheaply during the first year than at any other time, and feed should not be spared at this time.

GOOD FEED BOX FOR HORSES

Device Arranged to Fit on Wagon for Feeding Work Animals—Prevents Waste of Grain.

A teamster who is obliged to feed his horses during the noon hour at the wagon has devised a feed box to take the place of a nose bag, writes Vinton V. Detweiler of Manhattan, Kan., in Popular Mechanics. When the box is hooked over the top edge of the wagon box the height is just right for the horses. The box prevents waste of grain and provides a better way to feed the horses than in the wagon box.

FATTENING RATION IN IOWA

By Reducing Corn and Increasing Silage Rapid Gains Were Made With Less Expense.

Silage has cheapened the fattening ration for steers in Iowa. One lot, receiving each per day 17 pounds of corn, 20 pounds of silage, 2 pounds of oil meal and 1½ pounds of alfalfa, made gains at a cost of $9.37 while another lot, receiving 8½ pounds of corn, 51 pounds of silage, 2 pounds of oil meal and 1½ pounds of alfalfa, made gains at a cost of $7.67. The first lot averaged 2.94 pounds gain per day while the second lot averaged 3.04 pounds. Reducing the corn and increasing the silage increased the gains and cut down the cost of making gains.—North Dakota Agricultural College.

PREVENT WASTE OF MANURES

Careful Attention Should Be Given to Barn Yards and Other Places Occupied by Cattle.

With the high price of potash now prevailing, it is also important that all weed ashes be saved and applied.

A History of Muhlenberg County

BY OTTO A. ROTHERT

THIS book tells of the wilderness conquered, and of the adventures of the men and women who explored and developed the county up to and since the beginning of the railroad era, and made possible the achievements of to-day. It is the story of the county from the standpoint of its personal and public traditions, which have been arranged in related groups and form an almost continuous narrative.

It was published in 1913. Competent judges have pronounced it the best county history ever published in the United States. The Courier-Journal says, "The book is worthy of study, not only for the pictures it gives of early times and early society, but for the wealth of its curious and valuable illustrations and its expositions of the industrial and social progress of the county and its towns." The Western Recorder says, "It is more interesting than a good novel; it will interest old and young alike." The Greenville Record says, "Every Muhlenberger and former citizen of the county will value the book far above the price at which it is offered." The American Historical Review says, "The book not only contains much that is of interest to the student of Kentucky history but is written in a pleasing style."

It is a labor of love offered at cost of production, the author's time and work being contributed. The book contains 500 pages, 240 excellent illustrations and a complete index. It is printed on a superior quality of paper and is handsomely bound in dark red cloth.

Six Years Ago, Thinking She Might Die, Says Texas Lady, But Now She Is a Well, Strong Woman and Praises Cardui For Her Recovery.

Roysa City, Tex.—Mrs. Mary Kilman, of this place, says: "After the birth of my little girl...my side commenced to hurt me. I had to go back to bed. We called the doctor. I got worse and worse until the misery was unbearable...I was in bed for three months and suffered such agony that I was just drawn up in a knot...I told my husband if he would get me a bottle of Cardui I would try it...I commenced taking it, however, that evening I called my family about me...for I knew I could not last many days unless I had a change in

The misery in my side got less...I continued right on taking the Cardui until I had taken three bottles and I did not need any more for I was well and never felt better in my life...I have never had any trouble from that day to this."

Do you suffer from headache, backache, pains in sides, or other discomforts, each month? Or do you feel weak, nervous and fagged-out? If so, give Cardui, the woman's tonic, a
